15 Take Examinations For Three City Jobs

Fifteen candidates for three city positions took competitive written examinations at Sequoia High School Tuesday. Seven seek to fill the two openings for junior assistant librarian, which pays $1440 yearly, and eight are attempting to qualify as city firemen at an annual pay of $1800. There is one opening in the fire department.

City Clerk C. W. Eltringham, who conducted the examinations, said the forms were prepared and will be graded by the State Personnel Board. Additional oral and physical examinations will be given, he said, and within two or three weeks a list of persons eligible for employment will be made. From this list the city personnel officer may select any of the first three.

San Carlos Market Operator Is Injured

SAN CARLOS—Albert S. Tweedy, proprietor of the Laurel Market in San Carlos, was injured Tuesday when two automobiles collided here.

According to San Carlos police, Tweedy's car was being driven by Victor J. Torres, 927 Arlington Rd., Redwood City. As it turned into San Carlos Ave. from El Camino Real it was struck by the machine of Carl W. Brinkhoff, employe of the state hospital at Agnew. Brinkhoff's machine turned on its side and slid 53 feet from the point of impact.

Tweedy was thrown out of his car as it swapped ends and skidded 21 feet. He suffered cuts about the face. Brinkhoff was unhurt.

'Wings for the Nation' Seen After the War

Fifty thousand planes a year in the nation's wartime economy means wings for the nation once the war is over, Max L. Gelber predicted at a meeting of the Redwood City Toastmaster's Club Monday. Gelber, one of four speakers at the weekly club meeting, foresaw that in peace time the enormous production of planes must seek a civilian market to maintain a vast industry. He predicted there would be chains of airports spanning the nation, even as highways span it today.

Other speakers and their subjects: Kenneth Sanders, "Fun With My Son"; S. B. Saboff, "Trekking from Seattle to Portland"; John W. Brand, "Commuter's Club."

Community Chest Campaign Is Now Less Than $700 From Its Goal

Less than $700 from its goal, the Redwood City Community Chest campaign is being rapidly completed, with hope still held by Manager Donald L. Bogie that the $10,500 goal will be reached so that all participating agencies may continue with their full programs.

Bogie made a compilation Monday which showed that a total of $9827.83 had been subscribed to the chest so far. He urged workers to complete their tasks and turn in materials at once.

Anyone who has not been approached for a contribution may mail his subscription to the chest at the city hall, or take it to Bogie at the high school or any bank.

Helping substantially in pushing the total towards the goal was a contribution of $283.50 made by employes of the S & W Fine Foods cannery here.

The Kiwanis Club, which had been behind the Exchange Club in its solicitation of the downtown district, forged ahead, reporting a total of $740.25 from 299 subscribers, compared with $581 from 116 subscribers for the Exchange Club.

Sanitarium Fund Faces State Lien

The California Department of Employment has filed a stop notice with San Mateo County to prevent payment of $35,000 to A. W. and Libby A. Scheier for Canyon Sanitarium in Belmont, now in use as a county tuberculosis hospital.

The commission declared that the Scheiers are indebted to the state unemployment insurance fund in the amount of $1790.35. The notice stimplates that no credits due the Scheiers from the county may be paid until the commission consents.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel E. Sullivan said the $35,000 claim, now awaiting approval by County Executive Frederick Peterson, would not be paid until San Mateo County Title Co., escrow agents in the transaction, assured the county that title was clear and insurable. The warrant would be made payable jointly to the Scheiers and to the title company, he explained, to safeguard the county from any financial involvement.

Chamber President Awards Hero Medal

Joseph Descagnia of 1121 Windsor Way, Redwood City, today was proudly displaying a gold medal, presented to him on a radio program Sunday by Norman S. Menifee of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce. Descagnia, who rescued two boys, aged 9 and 10, from drowning several weeks ago, was presented the Wellman Valor Award as the "Hero of the Week." In presenting the award on behalf of the Wellman committee, Menifee declared he was "proud to be able to laud one of our citizens." Descagnia acknowledged the gift with the remark he was "glad I happened to be there . . . and was able to save the boys."

Assemblyman Predicts Special Session

Governor Olson will be forced to call a special session of the legislature, probably in April, to reduce state taxes and forestall squandering of a potential $50,000,000 surplus in 1943.

This was the prediction of Assemblyman Harrison W. Call of Redwood City here. Pioneer of the state economy bloc and a member of the economic security committee, Call said that recent events had vindicated the legislature and had placed the governor behind a political "eight ball."

The San Mateo County assemblyman recalled that the governor predicted economic ruin, riot and revolution if the legislature failed to adopt his $66,000,000 economy bloc reduced taxes and tax bill. Foreseeing a vast increase in state industry as war efforts speed up business, the cancelled the relief program for employable persons, Call said. George Killion, the governor's finance director, has announced that the state collected $56,000,000 more than needed for the four months ending Oct. 21.

While the governor has refused to call a special session at this time, Call predicted the session would be called at a time when the Olson administration could ask for tax reductions and claim credit for economies with an eye toward approaching elections.

The assemblyman predicted the sales tax would be cut from 3 to 2 per cent, and similar reductions would be made all along the line.

Abortion Trial Set Here for Dec. 9

Trial of Mrs. Florence Williams, 62, accused of operating an elaborate abortion hospital in San Mateo, today had been set for Dec. 9 before a jury in Judge A. R. Cotton's court.

Mrs. Williams, arrested Oct. 14 at 1001 Palm Ave., San Mateo, had been held in the county jail in lieu of $2500 cash bail.

Harbey-Korba Trial Set for December 10

Trial of Walter J. Harbey, 27, and John S. Korba, 25, on robbery charges was set for Dec. 10 by Judge Maxwell McNutt on Monday. Harbey entered a not guilty plea. Korba previously entered the same plea. Both waived jury trial. The two, Redwood City residents, are accused of assaulting a middle-aged Redwood City couple, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Natwig, on Oct. 19.

Judge McNutt continued for six weeks the time to reset trial of Harold Oxley, 38, Daly City, missing since he posted $1000 bond to answer morals charges filed by his wife.

Merle Simpson, accused of passing $70 in worthless checks on Redwood City merchants, pleaded guilty and asked probation.

Dutch traders had built huts on Manhattan as early as 1613.

Charter Study Committee Nears Half-Way Mark in Its Task

Nearing the half way mark in the task which they have undertaken, members of the San Mateo County Charter Study Committee, through Chairman Henry Witte, have reported that the group is making "satisfactory progress" and has received excellent response and co-operation from county officials and others who have been invited to address the committee and submit to questions.

Speakers who have appeared before the group to date include Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell, Burlingame Advance Publisher George A. McQueen, Half Moon Bay Review Publisher George Dunn, Atty. William H. Morrissey, County Treasurer A. H. Sagehorn, Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel E. Sullivan, J. B. Howell, chairman of the charter board of freeholders, County Clerk W. H. Augustus, Alden C. Fensel, representative of the California Taxpayers Association; County Engineer M. A. Grant, and Richard McAllister, representative of the San Mateo County Central Labor Council.

In addition to information furnished by the various speakers, the committee has received for study and discussion copies of charters from other California counties and elsewhere.

Nothing of a conclusive nature has yet been undertaken by the committee, according to Chairman Witte.

"We are still in the process of assimilation and digestion," he explained. "We feel that we should get as much constructive thought and helpful information as possible, representing various shades of opinion as well as facts, before we attempt to reach any conclusions."

The committee meetings are being well attended and everyone "is showing a very fine and public-spirited attitude toward them," Witte said, adding:

"I have every confidence that the work of this committee will prove fruitful in the results and high hopes that its sponsors and the public generally hold for it. Our task represents a high trust and a great responsibility, and I am sure that each member of the committee is cognizant of that fact."

It was at the urging of the Redwood City Tribune and Burlingame Advance that the charter study committee was formed from representatives of various countywide organizations. Each of 14 such groups was invited by the board of supervisors and county executive to name a representative, following which the committee held its first meeting last June 24.

The name of the committee defines the nature of its task, Chairman Witte explained — to seek a formula whereby the county government can be made to operate with greater efficiency and with intra-departmental harmony, which is now lacking.

On the committee besides Chairman Witte, a representative of the Redwood City-San Carlos District Real Estate Board, are Percy J. Shaw, vice chairman, from the Manufacturers Association of South San Francisco; Harvey G. Murch, secretary, from the 26th District, American Legion; Mrs. Paul C. Alexander, San Mateo County Federation of Women's Clubs; Capt. Frank Bartlett, San Mateo-Burlingame Real Estate Board; Mrs. John Bolton, Peninsula League of Women Voters; Harry N. Clark, Western San Mateo County Progressive Association; Heim Goldman, San Mateo County Federation of Improvement Clubs; Ernest Henderson, Central Labor Council of San Mateo County; Eugene Hoffman, Co-ordinating Committee of Peninsula Commuters; Axel V. Johnson, San Mateo County General Contractors Association; Winfield Scott, Civic League of San Mateo County; Dr. Henry J. Volonte, San Mateo County Dental Society; Rev. John R. Wilkins, San Mateo County Ministerial Association.

California As Seen By Papers Described

Early California, as seen through the columns of its pioneer newspapers, was the theme of a talk to the Kiwanis club Wednesday by Neal Van Sooy, acting manager of the Tribune.

Milton Gooding introduced the speaker "by proxy," reading an introduction written by Sam H. Winklebleck, Tribune publisher and member of the club.

Since the community newspaper is an American institution, Van Sooy said, California had no papers under Spanish or Mexican rule. But when Commodore Sloat captured Monterey in July, 1846, in the name of the United States government, he ordered his chaplain, Walter Colton, to print a proclamation concerning the new government. Colton, a former editor, went a step further and issued a regular newspaper—The Monterey Californian—on Aug. 15, which was the territory's first journal.

In January, 1847, Sam Brannan started the second paper, the California Star, in San Francisco (then Yerba Buena) and in May the Californian moved to the bay city as well. Both papers suspended during the gold rush of '49, but were revived in a combination as the Alta California later in the year.

The growth of newspapers throughout the state in the pioneer days was traced by Van Sooy, who dwelt particularly upon California's first martyr editor, James King of William, founder of the San Francisco Evening Bulletin in 1855. After bitter editorial attacks on city and country government, he was murdered in 1856 by Supervisor James Casey, who was hung by the Vigilantes in reprisal.

"The pioneer editors were a rough and ready lot, typical of the adventurous frontiersmen who settled California," Van Sooy concluded. "This very trait was the strongest feature, however, since it created a democratic press, a heritage which is zealously guarded by nearly a thousand daily and weekly home-town newspapers in the state today."

Mirrors Follow Period Fashions for Harmony

If you are tired of seeing enormous round mirrors over all your friends' davenports, show your individuality by purchasing one of oblong shape, and notice the attention it receives.

Not that round mirrors are out-of-date, for they are still in great demand for over the mantel, in the entrance hall, and in the dining room. Designs of leaf, floral and scroll patterns enhance mirrors for period rooms. Empire baroque in feeling are those highly decorated in silver or framed with gold finished carvings on wood.

For the Regency atmosphere, there is a mirror with classic pilasters holding a decorated overhanging pediment.

Although mirrors definitely are designed to harmonize with specific room periods, it is gratifying to note the increasing number of styles that can be used in any room without fear of committing a breach of style etiquette.

Social Work Meeting Set for Saturday

A regional meeting of the California Conference of Social Work has been set for next Saturday at Palo Alto Community Center, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Expected to attend are professional social and health workers, but the public is invited.

On the San Mateo County committee for the session are Adrian Ward of Menlo Park, superintendent of county social service, and Mrs. Ruth Close, executive secretary, San Mateo County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Reservations may be made with either. Charge is 50 cents.

ON THE HOME FRONT of national defense more than 1,250,000 Red Cross volunteers are taking an active part in backing up the man in uniform. They serve behind the lines performing scores of vital tasks vital to our growing armed forces—providing blood for emergency transfusions, making sweaters and surgical dressings and undertaking other duties at the request of the Army and Navy. Home Service workers serve back home as the connecting link between the man in uniform and his family through contact with the Red Cross field representative stationed at Army and Navy posts.

Louisa Pitcher Estate Willed to Brothers

Dr. Louisa J. Pitcher, native of Half Moon Bay who died there Nov. 2, left the bulk of her estate, valued in excess of $10,000, to four brothers, according to a will filed in superior court at Redwood City.

To Thomas B. Pitcher, Lobitos, she left a half interest in her Half Moon Bay property, excepting her home and personal effects, which went to a niece, Katherine Pitcher, also of Lobitos. The remainder went to the four brothers equally. They are Thomas; Theodore of Half Moon Bay; Robert L., Mayfield; and William A., Zwolle, La.

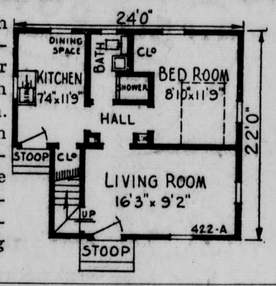
It is with pleasure the Tribune presents to local home and garden lovers the advice and help of Mrs. Watkins. Many homemakers who have been puzzled over just what is right for a certain type of garden color scheme, a type of wall paper or drapery plan for a sunny or dark interior will not have to worry their way through this problem. Mrs. Watkins will correspond with those interested in her service which of course is paid for by the members of the institute whose aim is better living and better comfort in home and garden arrangements.

Small But With Modern Ideas



Ideal for the small family with modern ideas, this design, created by retail lumber dealers for 1941, is presented by Northern California Homes Foundation. With defense construction in sharp decline and building materials prices leveling off, the Foundation predicts a new upsurge in home building, depending largely on supply of building metals.

Fireplaces

Open Hearth Has Charm, Friendliness

With Winter comes the realization that there isn't anything that the best decoration in the world can do for a room that equals the warm friendliness and charm of a glowing fire in an attractive fireplace. If you're lucky enough to have an open hearth, do make the most of it; kindle the fire on the slightest excuse, for it will at once become the heart of the room.

Perhaps you have a poor fireplace that envelops you and your room in billows of smoke every time you try to light it. In that case, if there's no cure, make a decorative feature of it anyway. Set up shiny andirons and lay a big fire of the nicest looking logs you can find, complete with kindling, and it will at least give the pleasant illusion that you could have a dancing fire at the flick of a match.

MOVE HEATER

Install the gas heater that may perhaps have to take the place of the open fire somewhere else in the room where it won't detract from the hearth's natural cheer.

There's another solution to the problem of the fireplace that isn't real, or can't be used. Imitation log and coal fires that burn gas have become so perfected that they not only are fumeless but they do give an amazingly real effect. Real flames leap over the manufactured logs or coals and you can toast your toes before them in all the luxury of a real fireplace.

Maybe your fireplace is downright ugly. Ever realize how easily the old one can be taken out and a new one installed? It's much less expensive than you perhaps realize; new mantels can be bought at from $25 up, mantels that can change the whole appearance of your room.

PAINT BRICKS

If your fireplace isn't bad, but isn't good either, you can blend it into the background by painting the bricks or tiles, and mantel, too, the same tones as the walls. Painting the facing and inside a shiny black or a clear white will improve it, too.

Don't overlook the decorative possibilities of the right andirons, fire screen and hearth tools, either. Brass and chromium are particularly nice because they can be kept shiny and spic-and-span looking. Crystal is extremely smart, too, right now, especially for modern rooms, but it, too, must be kept clean and shining to be at its best.

MANTEL TREATMENT

While you're dressing up the fireplace be sure that the mantel treatment is an important one that does big things for the room. Tiny figures that have to be seen close up to be appreciated don't belong on mantels. Choose something large and dramatic for this spot—a pair of gobby bowls, a big picture, a wide hanging shelf, a pair of large potted plants with vines to trail a bit, a mirror that extends clear to the ceiling, a big plate or metal plaque. Remember, this fireplace is the interest center of your room. Make it worth looking at a second time.

High Style in French Provincial

This French Provincial group is displayed by a New York department store as high style. The love seat is upholstered with antique satin which is very popular this season. The cotton print for the fabric of the chair at the right has a background of green, a favorite color for French Provincial decorations. The chintz chair at the left has another shade of green for the background of the larger print. Accessories are antique brass and pewter lamps, an authentic old china hot chocolate pot in green and an original painting. For this showing the store painted patterns on composition floors instead of using carpets.

Private Greenhouse Can Be Built Easily and Without Great Cost

The least expensive method of providing a small, private greenhouse is to make it in the shape of an appendage to some other building, with a simple shed roof.

You can have a glass bay window added to the breakfast nook, or you can build an elaborate arched roof conservatory for your winter estate. In either case the materials can be bought cut-to-fit and ready-to-put-up.

The difference between the modern "sun room" and the small "greenhouse" is that the latter is entirely devoted to the growing of plants. It is filled with work benches loaded with earth . . . shelves for potted plants . . . sand trays for seedlings . . . and equipped, in its more elaborate form, with temperature controls and special spraying devices. There are included the utilitarian sink-and-shelf for cutting and arranging flowers and ample storage space for pots, bags of plant food, insecticides, and all the tools that are part of the fascination of gardening.

A sunshine room, on the other hand, is different. It is in reality a living room with a finished floor and comfortable furnishings. Around the edges are wide plant boxes . . . filled with flowers and vines. There may be a fountain in the center banked with potted plants and livened with a few gold fish in its sunken basin. This is the room for sun bathing in deck chairs . . . the healthful place for the children to play . . . a most pleasant corner for informal entertaining . . . and of course the place where flowers grow best. The plans of sunshine rooms and greenhouse additions are not complicated. You will have your own particular preference as to placement of work shelves and flower benches. Whatever the style of your home . . . Colonial . . . Old English . . . French . . . Italian or Spanish . . . the sun room can be styled to fit the architectural idea.

If the sun room is small, it can be heated by the regular house heating system. If you have in mind a room for flowers only, some special heating coil may be needed, and the room must have a door between it and the house proper, to make possible the even temperature which plants like.

CHEMICALS IN MAN

"Dr. F. E. Lawson states that a man weighing 140 pounds contains enough carbon for 9000 pencils, phosphorus to make 2200 match heads, enough fat for seven cakes of soap, magnesium for one dose of salts, iron to make one medium-size nail, sufficient lime to whitewash a chicken coop, enough sulphur to rid one dog of fleas, and water to fill a 10-gallon milk can."

—The Diplomate

Defense Gardens Promise Savings on Food Budget

Patriotic home gardeners who grow vegetables next Spring will not only contribute to national defense, but will make substantial savings in the cost of living.

Higher prices for food are inevitable, and the risk of market shortages of the fresh, green protective foods so easily produced in the home garden is very definite under war conditions, as the experience of every country now at war has proved.

GARDEN REDUCES BUDGET

In the initial stages of a price advance, when expenses increase, but wages and salaries lag behind, the reduction in the household budget possible through a home vegetables garden may be even more important than later, when incomes are likely to rise to balance the price level.

Every family which has as much as 200 square feet of soil at its disposal for a vegetable garden can become largely immune from the effects of price advances on the food bill by growing its own vegetables.

War may increase greatly the cost of fresh vegetables in the market, but it will not increase the cost of growing them in your own garden.

There are two ways of figuring this cost. You may count the time you put in spading and cultivating, as so much labor, to be charged against the crop, or you may look upon gardening as exercise and recreation, a healthful and enjoyable way to spend leisure hours, and the crop as so much clear gain.

It is generally agreed that the first effect of war is upon the cost of living. Prices rise on consumption goods—the food we must have every day, the clothes we wear out and must replace, the items, in short upon which most of the average income is expended.

A rise of 25 per cent in food prices will place a heavy burden upon most families, if the money income does not rise in the same degree; and economists say there is always a lag here; prices rise faster than wages and salaries.

The home garden can easily grow 25 per cent of the food which a family needs; and this will balance the budget.

Fall preparation for a war garden consists of planting those few crops which can be planted in the Fall, and preparing the land for early planting next Spring.

MOVIE STAR JOINS U.S. NAVY

Ensign Wayne Morris Seeks Wings

Wayne Morris, recent star of "I Wanted Wings," became a member of Uncle Sam's Navy in May, 1941, when he was appointed to the rank of Ensign.

When asked what he thought of the United States Navy, Morris said, "I think every man who is considering joining a military service should look into the 'chance of a lifetime' which the Navy and Naval Reserve offer to get into the big-pay field of the future—aviation. In the Navy you can attend the finest flight training schools in the world, and receive instruction from Navy pilots who introduced dive bombing, aircraft carriers and catapult take-offs to the rest of the world. Also, there are opportunities in Naval Aviation for men who don't want to fly. They can be trained as aviation machinists, metalsmiths, photographers, observers, or they can receive instruction in many other trades. It's a great life in the Navy."

GIVEN JAIL TERMS

James Crawford, 39, San Bruno, jailed Oct. 11 on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 6-year-old boy, was sentenced Monday afternoon to six months in the county jail. Superior Court Judge A. R. Cotton denied Crawford's motion for probation.

WPA People 'Need Feel No Alarm'

San Mateo County's 256 WPA clients need feel no alarm over the failure of this county to sign a "referral agency" agreement with the state, Supervisor Fred E. Beer declared here. Beer announced that he had assurance from WPA authorities that none of the current WPA projects or personnel would be disturbed, regardless of the county's decision.

He said the supervisors would have within two weeks all of the information necessary upon which to decide whether or not to sign a referral agreement. The agreement would shift certification of employable relief clients from the San Mateo County Unemployment Committee to the county board of health and welfare.

County Executive Frederick Peterson, who yesterday was advised by William R. Lawson, Northern California WPA director, that the county's WPA program was endangered by absense of a referral agency, conferred with the board this morning. Beer disclosed that he has been investigating the problem personally for the past two weeks.

Beer, quoting a WPA official, said all projects will remain intact even though the county refuses to sign the agreeemnt.

Of the 256 WPA clients, 116 are working on county-sponsored road projects, 32 in sewing rooms. All others are sponsored by other governmental units, Beer said.

Conflicting Reports About Pilot Cleared Up

SAN CARLOS—Conflicting reports about what happened to RAF Pilot Officer William H. Nichols, 26, son of Mrs. Grace Lewis of San Carlos, have been settled by two letters received from him in the past week.

According to the letters, he was shot down and his plane exploded. But he apparently parachuted to safety, spent two weeks in a French hospital and now is in Germany.

He was badly burned when the plane caught fire, but is recovering.

In his letters, Nichols refers to being in "prison" in Germany. But he assures her there is no need for worry. The food is good and plentiful, beds are good, cigarets are available, as are "all the books we can read" and once a week a Red Cross parcel arrives, according to the letters.

"There's no need for you to worry now," Nichols wrote. "All we have to do is wait until the war is over and I can come home. Be thankful I'm in prison. Dozens of others I know didn't get off so lucky."
